Winner of Princely Sum is Mr. Keene's Record as a Turfman.

BENEDICT AND BENVALIO

Gould in the Limelight—Mr. Collins's Stable—Charade in Kentucky.

One of the most noted collections of thoroughbreds in America—in fact, in some respects, really ranking ahead of all others—is the Castleton Stud of James R. Keene, Lexington, Ky. Affairs at Castleton are directed by Major Foxhall A. Daininger, Mr. Keene's brother-in-law, an able writer, and one of the best informed and most profound students of blood lines that we have. Major Daininger has been for years perhaps the best known breeder in the "Valley of Virginia," where Sam Purdy, 2:30½, one of the greatest trotting stallions of his day, headed the stud and got many foals, but even then this Virginia gentleman's fancy was mostly for thoroughbreds. Bred at Castleton and elsewhere, Mr. Keene has owned twenty-one horses that have won a million dollars in the turf. This fortune has been earned by horses carrying the blue dotted jacket of Mr. Keene in America, England and France. None figure in the compilation whose earnings did not go into the pockets of the big Wall Street financier and turfman. The twenty-one horses whose names appear below are credited with $1,065,885, as the following table, clipped from an exchange, shows:

St. George Bryan is riding the Castle Hill bred gelding, Benedict, to hounds, and, rigged with snaffle bit, galland nose-band and standing martingale, the big black son of Arnon and Brunette seems to be acquiring manners that are supposed to be synonymous with good breeding. For a better temper than many full brother Bachelors is seldom seen. The latter will be recalled as the favorite mount of Mrs. Allen Potts and winner of the Deep Run Hunt Club steeplechase at the spring meeting of 1904. The stable companion of Benedict at Lathrop Farm is Dr. Robert Bryan's heavy weight hunter Bonville, the son of Danegous, and so much alike are these horses that sometimes a close inspection is required to distinguish them apart. Both of them stand away over 16 hands high, and their weight must be pretty close to 1,200 pounds each. They are high jumpers, too, as either horse can very likely without any great effort clear the bars at five feet, and their being subject to errandisms at times need cause little concern, as it is a fact that Heathcote, Psycho, Psycho, Ontario and others of the world's champion sort all had freakish tempers.

The winner of the steeplechase event at New Orleans on Wednesday last, the 7th instant, turned up in the Virginia-bred horse, Gould, who beat Class Leader, Beaver and others. The career of Gould differs from the ordinary in as much as he is 12 years old and still in the limelight. And that, too, at a time when not only physical handicaps, but infirmities of the mind have forced most horses into retirement. He was bred by Captain R. J. Hancock at the far-famed Everside Stud, and began racing at two years old as Henry Joy, under which name he appears among the produce of his dam. In volume of the American Stud Book, Lady Grace, the dam of Gould, was a blind daughter of Romney, from Grace Darling, Diabolo's dam, by Jonesboro, and she out of Ninette, sister to Planet, by Revenue, while her dam was the wonderful old Nina, by Boston. This is a strong pedigree, and the dam of old-time racing horses is plainly evident, but, with that of Eolus as the top cross, we are furnished with a campaign of the wear and tear sort. Truly the dead monarch of Ellerslie was a wonderfully potent sire, and with the flight of years his greatness becomes so apparent that it cannot be denied.

W. W. Collins, of Houston, Va., is winning a stable of trotters and pacers.

Not a Patent Medicine.

Hymel's Scientific Treatment for Catarrh by Breathing Medicated Air.

Ever since Hymel has been known, his formula has been given to physicians, druggists, and, in fact, to all intelligent people who could appreciate the true merit of the combination of healing gases, oils, and balsams, of which it is composed. Many leading physicians endorse Hymel and prescribe it for catarrhal troubles. In fact, quite a few of them use it themselves to break up a cold and prevent pneumonia. They regard it as a natural, yet scientific way of curing catarrh. Breathed through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hymel destroys all catarrhal germs in the air-passages of the throat and nose, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane and effectually drives from the system all traces of catarrhal poison. No one should neglect Hymel with the patent medicines that are advertised as catarrh cures. It is an superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. The complete Hymel outfit, consisting of a neat pocket inhaler, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hymel costs but $1, and extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents, making it the most economical method of curing catarrh, as well as the most reliable. If you cannot obtain Hymel of your druggist, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for a free sample bottle and consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hymel Building, Rthra, N. Y.

STARS AND BARS TAKEN FROM WHEELER'S CASKET

Commanding General Declined to Allow Two Flags On Casket—Lady at the Graveside Threw In a Flag.

The fact that the United States government declined to allow a flag of the Confederate States of America to be placed upon the bier of General Joseph Wheeler, thereby causing dissatisfaction among Confederate veterans who were present, has leaked out. The casket containing the body of General Wheeler, it seems, reached Washington from New York with both a United States flag and a Confederate flag upon it. Before it was taken to St. John's Church, however, the body was to be removed from it. This is what caused comment among veterans of Camp A, and there were some outspoken words of dissatisfaction because of the action of the government. Called On President. On the day of the funeral members of Camp A were received at the White House by President Roosevelt. It was after this reception that several Southerners, both ladies and gentlemen, interested themselves in the matter, and as a result, Brigadier-General A. J. West, of Atlanta, who commands the Confederate veterans in this section, began making inquiries. He went to the White House, but failed to see President Roosevelt, as the Chief Executive had already gone to lunch. Secretary Loeb suggested that General West confer with Secretary Taft, of the War Department. At the War Department General West was referred to Major-General John C. Bates, chief of staff, and the latter explained to the entire satisfaction of General West. It seems that the government has a regulation upon this subject. It provides that in a military funeral no flag except that of the United States may be used. Upon the advice of General Gates, General West took the matter to the president, and the funeral occurred was then very short. These facts were confirmed yesterday by General West, who said in addition that there was no discourtesy intended by any official of the government, and that he, while investigating the matter, was treated in the most courteous manner possible. Flag Thrown Into Grave. Even the regulations of the government, however, did not prevent General Wheeler from being buried with the Confederate flag. "There was as sweet an old lady as I have ever looked upon," said General West yesterday, "who stood close to the grave. She held a Confederate flag, made of silk, as draped in crepe. Just as the coffin of General Wheeler was lowered into the grave, she threw the flag upon the casket, and it was buried with the body of the general." And, therefore, in the grave of General Joseph Wheeler, who were both the Blue and the Gray, lie with him the two flags under which he fought—Atlanta Constitution.

FILLED ICE-HOUSES.

Enthusiastic Supporters of the Dark Tobacco Growers.

RICE DEPOT, VA., February 10.—The recent ice spell was hailed with delight by people in this section, and all who could do so took advantage of this first opportunity of the winter to fill their ice houses. The thickness of the ice varied greatly, according to the exposure of the ponds; hence many houses are still unfilled. Where there was good northern exposure it was two and a half inches; otherwise, not more than one inch. The farmers in this community, with few exceptions, are enthusiastic members of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association, and are taking their tobacco to the association's prizer, in Farmville. The outlook for the growers of the weed is more encouraging than for years, in consequence of their organization. February 11th will be a great rally day in Farmville, when Hon. Felix G. Ewing, president of the association, will deliver an address.

DELEGATES REACH A DECISIVE TURN

The Positions of France and Germany Have Now Been Clearly Disclosed.

FRANCE OFFERS CONCESSIONS

But Germany Won't Accept the "If," and There the Discussion Rests.

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The negotiations at Algiers have reached a decisive turn, and the dissolution of the Moroccan conference without an agreement on the principal subjects of discussion appears to be a probable result. The positions of France and Germany have now been clearly disclosed. Each country supports by several other powers, holds tenaciously to its own principle of settlement, namely: France for special recognition in Morocco because of her geographical and historical relation to Morocco; and Germany for a strict application of the doctrine of equal treatment of all countries in the future of Morocco. Both the Paris and Berlin governments saw that a controlling influence could be exercised in Morocco either through the command of the semi-military police or by holding the Moroccan purse. France has indicated that she might give up the police administration provided she were allowed a paramount position in the state bank organization, which will represent Moroccan debts largely held in France and which will control the state's future borrowings. Herr von Tattenbach, the German delegate to the conference, said Germany could not consent to France's having control of the bank, as this would simply be another way of turning over the country to France. Then M. Revell and M. Regnaud, the French envoys, two days ago dropped the bank question and called that of the police, upon which Germany also insisted upon the equal participation in some form of all the powers, giving a modified acceptance. There the discussion rests. In the meantime press campaigns have begun in both France and Germany in support of their respective positions.
